PRICE FIVE CENTS.

ATLANTA, APRIL 25, 1873.

From Yesterday's Evening Edition.

Summary of State News.

CALHOUN.

Uncle Spencer, an eccentric old colored man of Calhoun, died a few days ago.—Talking Rock Factory was burned on last Friday. A new mill which was attached to the factory was also burned. The factory was situated on Talking Rock creek, near the line of this county and Pickens.—Times.

LAWRENCEVILLE.

In the counties of Hall, Forsyth, Milton and Gwinnett, from the best information we can obtain, we are satisfied that the wheat crop in these counties will be almost a failure. Some farmers tell us that there is not enough wheat upon five acres to make a good stand upon one.—Gwinnett Herald.

GRIFFIN.

From Henry Superior Court we learn that the grand jury found true bills for involuntary manslaughter against Charlie White, the conductor, and Edick Johnson, the engineer, who were running at the time of the accident on the Macon Road.——The Odd Fellows' anniversary will be celebrated in Griffin on the 26th instant.—News.

AUGUSTA.

The court expenses of Richmond county for one year, from February 1st, 1872, to February 1st, 1873, amounted to $15,664.22.——A negro man died of the small-pox at the Augusta Pest House, on Tuesday.—Constitutionalist.

The residence of Mr. James L. Fleming, near the fifteen mile post, on the Georgia Railroad, was destroyed by fire on Monday night.—Chronicle and Sentinel.

MACON.

A storehouse and also a grocery were consumed by fire in Macon on the 22d instant. The buildings belonged to Mr. George Woods.—On Tuesday the freight train from Atlanta to Macon ran over a man near McGuinty's saw mill, just beyond St. Paul's Church. He was terribly mangled, having literally every bone in his body crushed. His name was J. M. Martin. Half an hour before the accident, he was seen very much under the influence of liquor.—Enterprise

COLUMBUS.

The demand for ice in our city is increasing.—Rev. Dr. Key accidentally slipped into a pile of brickbats, a few nights ago, and sprained one of his ankles.——Captain J. J. Slade has been selected by the ladies of the Memorial Association to deliver the annual address.——A gentleman who came up on Tuesday from Webster, or lower part of Marion county, a distance of forty or fifty miles, reports having seen only two fields of corn on the trip up, and the whole population as being crazy on cotton.—Enquirer.

ATHENS.

At the last term of Forsyth Superior Court, Wm. J. Bone was tried for the murder of Thompson Benton and found guilty of manslaughter, whereupon he was sentenced to the penitentiary for the term of eight years.——On a visit to Franklin county we were pleased to see many evidences of returning prosperity. One more good crop year will set the people of old Franklin on their feet again.——Williams Lodge I. O. O. F., of Athens, will celebrate the 54th anniversary of American Odd Fellowship on the 26th inst.—Southern Watchman.

FORT VALLEY.

We notice cotton and corn coming up on the farms around town. A good rain is needed very badly.——Mr. J. W. Hardison has a cabbage that measures twenty-five and a half inches across the top. It was planted the 20th of February.——Friday night, the drug store of Mr. John Lilly was entered by a negro boy and robbed of $63. Boy captured and money recovered.——On Monday Mr. Wm. Lowe fell from a wagon to which was attached a couple of runaway mules, and received injuries from which he died in a few minutes after the accident.—Business Mirror.

MILLEDGEVILLE.

Addresses will be delivered Memorial Day in Milledgeville by Captain D. B. Sanford and Mr. B. W. Barrow.——Judge D. B. Sanford, Ordinary of Baldwin county, has obtained from Governor Smith the use of the rooms in the old capitol building for county purposes.——Dr. James W. Hully, Fleming G. Grieve and John W. Wilcox have been elected delegates to represent St. Stephens' Church and parish in the Convention of the Diocese shortly to assemble at Savannah.——The house of Frank Kyle, colored, located in the western part of Milledgeville, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday night.—Union and Recorder.

DALTON.

The boys of Dalton have formed a base ball club.——Cats and dogs are becoming a nuisance in Dalton.——A large and troublesome wolf has been killed in Murray county. It is said that this wolf would frequently kill from six to a dozen sheep in one night on a plantation. His skin measured seven feet from the point of the nose to the tip of the tail.——Among the improvements contributing to increase the population and wealth of Dalton, we notice the two college buildings now in course of erection. Also the private dwellings of Mr. E. O Herndon, J. H. Renner, Mrs. Culberson, Dr. Quinn, M. W. J. Ault, Mrs. Gorman, and then Mr. R P. O'Neill is building a large brick warehouse. North Georgia Citizen.

FORSYTH.

Mr. N. M. Hammond, of Red Bone district, has cotton with three leaves. We hear of several farmers in our county who have cotton up and growing rapidly.——We have in our office a bunch of bearded and white wheat, grown on the farm of Mr. John Rickerson, of Culloden, measuring four and a half feet in height with the beards fully developed.——The decoration of the soldiers' graves will take place on the 26th of April. Colonel J. H. Turner will deliver the address.——On last Friday evening, a building occupied by negroes on the residence lot belonging to the estate of Thomas R. Talmadge, was entirely destroyed by fire.——The several Sunday schools of Forsyth will unite and have a picnic excursion on May 1st to Milner. Chief Marshal, J. R. Banks.—Monroe Advertiser.

SAVANNAH.

Rufus E. Lester has been elected captain, James Swann 1st lieutenant, W. W. Chisholm 2d lieutenant, and Thomas R. Mills, Jr., 3d lieutenant of Phœnix Riflemen, of Savannah.——Mr. Martin Duggan returned to the city last night from Port Royal, where he had gone to attend the sale of lots which took place on Tuesday. Mr. Duggan bought 80 lots, having a front of 500 feet each. Mr. D. invested $40,000 in the property.——It is reported that a change in the proprietorship of the Pulaski House will take place shortly.——Mr. P. Geiblehouse has instituted a suit against the Skidaway Shell Road Company for $10,000 damages, for injuries received by his wife in being thrown out of his buggy, which came in contact with a pile of shells left on the road by the company.——Mr. R. H. Henley, of Alabama, died at the Pulaski House on the 22d inst.——Mr. C. P. Malone, of Quincy, Ill., died on the 22d inst. at the Marshall House.—News.

We have seen two oysters in the possession of Captain James A. Barron, caught at Warsaw sound, that show what Georgia waters can do. The oysters are of the following dimensions: The largest is 16 inches long, 3 1-2 inches wide and 10 1-2 inches in circumference. The smallest is 14 1-2 inches long, 4 inches wide and 12 inches in circumference.—Advertiser.

GOOD ADVICE.—The indictment against Susan B. Anthony, for voting, charges that she was a person of the female sex contrary to the laws of the United States, in such cases made and provided. This may have a tendency to discourage persons being born females contrary to the laws of the United States. Persons of the female sex should always read the Constitution before being born, and then such mistakes would not occur.

It is proposed, in Ohio, to memorialize the Legislature for a law to encourage the ornamenting of road sides with trees by offering a small premium to whoever will so do.

GOVERNOR WOODSON, OF MISSOURI.

INTERESTING POLITICAL LETTER.

Views of the Missouri Executive upon Oppressive Corporations, Political Rings, etc.—The Atlanta Convention of Governors.

Colonel D. H. Armstrong:

DEAR SIR—Yours of the 17th instant was received last night. You are right, I think, in giving the prominence you do to Missouri as a leading State of the Union, and in ascribing to her an immense power over the deliberations of all bodies and conventions of men that may assemble hereafter, either for the purpose of waging war against the odious and oligarchical principles and tendencies of the Radical party, or the little less dangerous and oppressive combinations on the part of private corporations against the commercial and productive interests of the country. It would be sufficiently hard and trying if the people were only forced to submit to the domination of the party now controlling the Federal government in all its departments, and riding rough-shod over the heads of all opponents, as well as all constitutional safeguards. But when to these grievances the oppressions of the railroad monopolies are added, the last feather necessary to break the camel's back has been furnished. And I am now satisfied that the forbearance of the people has been broken, and that they, in the might and majesty of their inherent strength, are resolved to bring their oppressors to a most rigid and fearful account, and to inaugurate a purer administration, both State and national, than we have had for many years. The modus operandi by which the grand results suggested are to be reached, will absorb the thought and engage the time and attention of our people, to the exclusion of the consideration of all other political questions, until the end is reached. The physician who fully understands the disease of his patient and its cause is seldom at a loss to find a remedy. We, as a people, certainly appreciate the diseased condition of the body politic, and know just as well the causes of all its maladies. Now, the first thing to be done is to remove the causes of ill. This is no easy matter, as the past has most clearly shown. If the Radical party is to blame for political ailments, and is justly responsible for them, then it must be overthrown. If railroad companies and combinations impose ruinous burdens upon the travel and transportation of the country, then such companies and combinations must be subdued into submission to the law and compelled to carry out, and in good faith, the design of the Legislature in bestowing franchises upon them. Now, you know, as well as any one, that to make a war, and particularly a successful one, upon the Radical party, and to deprive railroad companies, combinations and monopolies of all assumed and illegitimately exercised powers, and to make railroad companies what their charters at first designed them to be, viz: the servants of the people and ministers to their wants and necessities, is no child's play. Still I believe a successful war can and will be made upon them, to the extent indicated and no further. In this war, however, former party ties, and names, and obligations may necessarily have to be abandoned by the movers in this great revolutionary reformation. We must go into the fight, if at all, upon principle, determined to accomplish a great good, to redeem and regenerate the country, to restore to pristine vigor an infracted constitution, to give to trade and commerce, and the productions of the soil and mines of Missouri, as well as everywhere else throughout our broad spread dominions, unconditional guarantees that they shall not be oppressed and unjustly dealt by, to rid our laws of all odious tariffs, to put honest men in office, to retire into the shades of private life all supporters of credit mobilier projects, and increased salary swindlers. With these grand ends and objects in view, we will care not for the past political afflictions of the soldiers in our ranks. All who are tired of misrule and corruption on the part of those in power, and who are in favor of the measures we advocate, we will be glad to see swelling our columns. I am not only willing to go to Atlanta, but to make the circuit of the earth, to aid in the inauguration of all just and proper measures for the accomplishment of the glorious objects we have before us. Now, are you, Glover, Broadhead, * * * and men like you, willing to do the same thing? If so, let me hear from you, and we will agree upon the time and manner of our trip.

Most truly, your friend,

SILAS WOODSON.

Alabama News.

Mr. William Johnson, a well known citizen of Selma, died on Sunday last.

Two negroes have been elected school trustees in Lowndes county.

A feature in the Montgomery floral show, to come off on the 30th of April, is to be several hundred girls, under the care of Mr. Hayman.

Tennessee News.

The expenses of the late General Assembly of Tennessee amounted to $41,191 94.

A 21 ounce baby was born at Centreville a few days ago.

Tennessee has seventy-five newspapers outside of Knoxville, Chattanooga, Nashville and Memphis.

There will be a larger amount of corn planted in Greene county this year than last.

Fred Douglass will visit Nashville during the Colored Fair, in September, and deliver two lectures.

South Carolina News.

The Chapel and wings of the State University have been leased by the Trustees to the Regents of the State Normal School for the use of the Normal School.

The water supply is becoming a serious question in Charleston.

Greenville is making preparations to start a cotton factory. $170,000 is subscribed.

The Greenville and Columbia Railroad has, in contemplation the purchase of three new engines and a large quantity of railroad iron.

The Spring meeting of the State Agricultural and Mechanical Society will be held in Charleston, April 29th.

AIR-LINE RAILROAD.—The first train over this road, between Charlotte and Greenville will run on Wednesday next, (to-morrow.) The distance is 110 miles, and will be made in about eight or nine hours. The grading is nearly all completed for the entire length of the road, and the rails are laid on this end of the route for about fifteen miles west from Greenville. On the Georgia end of the line trains run daily from Atlanta to the eastern terminus, near the Savannah river, a distance of about 90 miles, thus making about 200 miles of road nearly completed. Colonel Hudnutt, Chief Engineer of the Southern Security Company, and one of the best engineers in the country, is superintending the work and pushing it through as fast as possible. It is expected that by the first of July the entire line will be completed and in running order. Colonel Buford, the President of the road, is doing every thing in his power to forward the work, which he is anxious to complete at the earliest moment. The opening of this line will be a great day in the history of the State.—Columbia Union.

SUFFOCATED IN MUD—Cohasset, April 21.—Mary Gaffney, while returning home Sunday night from a funeral, fell down an embankment on Ridge road, and was found dead, suffocated in mud that she could not extricate herself, was in this manner strangled to death.

ATLANTA:

FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1873.

☞ The grand jury of New York City urgently recommends the Legislature to repeal the usury law.

☞ At the beginning of the present year the New York Tribune found that it had nearly twenty-five hundred exchanges!

Col. Acton.

This humorous and genial bed-buster and slat-braker, who represents THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, gave us a call last Thursday. THE CONSTITUTION espoused the cause of honesty, and fearlessly defended the rights of the people during the dark days of Bullock's administration, and this will never be forgotten.—Monroe Advertiser.

☞ The Sunday edition of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION contained ninety-eight columns, including fifty columns of live advertisements. Considering Atlanta has a population of only 30,000, this achievement surpasses that of the New York Herald, which boasted of its seventy-eight columns of advertisements. The Atlanta business men are up to the times.

A Strange Discovery.

General Clingman, of North Carolina, writes a letter to the Ashville Expositor giving proof of the existence of a people in North Carolina superior to the Indian race in the arts of intelligence, if not prior in point of time that is indisputable. Who they were, where they came from, and how and when they disappeared, will doubtless ever be unsolved questions; but for all that, anything relating to these ancient Carolinians, as we may call them for want of a better name, will be interesting.

Colfax.

The latest about ex-Vice-President Colfax is that he stands convicted of more falsehoods It was reported that he was robbed of one or two thousand dollars' worth of government securities a month or two ago. The New York Sun's correspondent says that the real amount was nearly one hundred thousand dollars. Colfax has been claiming to be a poor man, and falsely stated the amount of the loss. He has recovered nearly all. The correspondent intimates that Colfax has made lots of money out of his official position.

The Atlanta Constitution.

This deservedly popular paper is spreading itself. About a week since it furnished its readers with a sixteen page daily filled with interesting matter. Its correspondence department is an important feature. In its last Sunday's edition there are letters from Japan, China, Europe, and different portions of Georgia, in addition to its telegraphic, editorial and selected matter. In these mammoth Sunday issues it has exhausted the English language and makes up the deficiency in a column or two of Dutch. Dutch can only be resorted to on Sunday for the reason that Col. Whidby, the Dutch editor, has not time during the week to go round and translate there columns for his local readers. Gwinnett Herald.

☞ The Chicago Times has this to say of a Democratic Congressman of that State:

Hon. John M. Crebs, representative in the Forty-second Congress from the Thirteenth District of this State, is to be added to the list of those members who, after opposing the salary grab by their votes, had the honesty and consistency to refuse to avail themselves of the proceeds. He is also to be added to the shorter list of those who did not use the swag to buy popular favor, by presenting it to some home institution, or to the State or municipal government, but left it where it belonged, in the treasury of the United States.

The Chicago Journal, a Republican organ, refers to Mr. Crebs' action as follows:

The fact that Mr. Crebs is a Democrat should influence the Senators and Representatives of our own party to disgorge—that is, such of them as have not already done so.

In his letter returning his back pay to the Treasury Department, Mr. Crebs says: "As I persistently opposed the passage of the bill for increase of pay, I cannot conscientiously receive the money."

American Art at Vienna.

Cincinnati comes to the rescue. We are, say the correspondents, lamentably deficient in the department of Fine Arts. They do not know what is on the way. Porkopolis has dispatched "three LARGE oil paintings giving the entire process of pork-packing." This is realistic art with a vengeance.

Large as these paintings undoubtedly are, they leave a painful aesthetic void. A Porker cannot be packed, any more than a hare can be cooked, before it is caught and properly killed. The wholesale slaughter scenes demand an artist of rare merit. No one short of a Page or an Elliott can rightly depict the porcine countenance in all the stages of its inevitable progress to the hot plunge bath. We do not wish to be captious; but it does seem to us that a hog panorama cannot be satisfactory to the outside world if it is solely confined to the barrel scene. The Cincinnati paintings are a reflection on the comprehensiveness of American art, and on the animal whose early history is thus blighted.

Retribution.

Captain Jack killed General Canby, who was an excellent man and a good soldier. He did it in a treacherous, cowardly manner. Every paper in the Union said so, and it must be so. But who initiated that kind of warfare in the land of the Modocs? The following historical telegram, just received from San Francisco, illuminates the recent crime of Captain Jack not a little:

"In 1852 Northern California was disturbed by Indian troubles, and the same year a company, under command of Captain Benjamin Wright, was organized, and proceeded from Yreka to the Indian country around Tule lake and the lava beds. They fought three unsuccessful battles, the force being insufficient for the subjection of the Modocs. They returned to Yreka, organized a larger force and marched again to the Modoc country. Winter approaching, found the Modocs' supply of blankets, ammunition and food extremely limited; consequently the Modocs were anxious for a cessation of hostilities. In April Captain Wright received the Modoc overtures with great cordiality. A peace conference was agreed upon, and a place appointed in the immediate vicinity of the massacre of Gen. Canby. The conference met, consisting of about twenty-five Indians and thirty white men. While discussing the terms, Wright gave the men a signal, and in a moment they killed eighteen Modocs, and seven Modocs escaped. Thus perished the fathers of the present Modocs. Capt. Jack was nine years old, John Schonchin nineteen and Boston Charley and Hooker Jim two [illegible] Indian agent on Rogue river. Wright was apprehensive of Modoc vengeance. One night a Modoc chief named Enos murdered and horribly mutilated Wright's body. Chief Enos was afterwards captured and hanged. He died exulting that he had wreaked vengeance on the leader of the massacre of his murdered tribe."

☞ In spite of the poverty of this old State, the government has an astonishing knack of recruiting from the vilest political ranks of the country, continually piled new fuel to feed up the burning fires of revenge in the Indian heart; and worst of all, troops of the United States stole a number of Capt. Jack's horses, pending the very negotiations that preceded the massacre of Gen. Canby. An Indian never forgets or forgives.

Depend upon it, Captain Jack and his small band possess the traditional craft and courage in an unusual degree. They know that away from the caves and ravines and natural lines of the lava beds sixty-three Indians, no matter how brave or desperate, would quickly go down under the frontiersman's ready bullet. They are in the lava beds, every man of them that the telegraph permitted to live at the close of the late gallant Federal battles. And they will die there—but not right away. Never will they trust themselves to the mercy of men who have betrayed them, and robbed them, year in and year out, in every way that rapacity could devise.

We have no excuses for the subtlety, cruelty and cowardice of Indian warfare; it is bad enough; but the spectacle of forty millions of people demanding the blood of sixty-three lone Indians that have been wronged at every turn, is not the most inspiring one in the annals of mankind.

☞ The New York World has the following mysterious paragraph about Georgia:

Apropos of the arrest of Mrs. Eliza Collier, a woman of Georgia, for the arrest of whose supposed murder the Governor of that State recently offered a reward, the Philadelphia Medical Times contains a letter from the physician who made a postmortem examination of her remains, and who attributed her death to spontaneous combustion, the greater part of her body being absolutely consumed by fire, leaving only the head with the skeleton of the left shoulder and arm, portions of the spine and ribs, and the upper part of one thigh-bone.

MEETING OF THE RICHMOND BAR.

Resolutions in Honor of the Memory of Gen. A. R. Wright.

Eulogies by Judge Gibson and Members of the Bar.

A meeting of the Richmond County Bar was held in the grand jury room yesterday morning, immediately after the opening of the Superior Court, Judge William T. Gould in the chair.

The chairman said the object of the meeting was to receive the report of the committee appointed at the October term of the court to prepare resolutions in honor of the memory of General A. R. Wright. He asked the committee if they were ready to report.

The committee, through their chairman, Hon. H. W. Hilliard, presented the following preamble and resolutions:

Report of the committee appointed at the October term of the Superior Court to prepare resolutions in honor of the memory of Gen. Ambrose Ransom Wright:

WHEREAS, in the order of Divine Providence, Gen. Ambrose R. Wright, a member of this Bar, has been removed from the present world, we his associates wishing to pay a tribute to his memory, unanimously adopt the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, That in the death of Gen. Wright the Bar has sustained a loss which we feel with deep sensibility.

2. Resolved, That we recognize in the eminence attained by General Wright the result of the possession of fine natural abilities, commendable diligence and extraordinary energy; that he was a shining example of the success which follows the vigorous prosecution of the legal profession, and that at the same time of his death he had reached the enviable summit from which he could look forward to years of useful and honorable labor.

3. Resolved, That as a mark of respect to the memory of our deceased brother, we will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

4. Resolved, That his Honor Judge Gibson be requested to order these resolutions to be entered on the minutes of the Court; that a copy be furnished to the family of Gen. Wright, and that they be published in the city papers.

HENRY W. HILLIARD,
Chairman of the Committee.

On motion of Wm. Hope Hull, Esq., the report was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Hilliard presented the preamble and resolutions above to the Court, and moved that they be adopted and spread upon the minutes of the court, and paid a tribute to the character and abilities of General Wright.

Major J. B. Cumming seconded the resolutions and delivered an eloquent eulogy of the distinguished dead. All the combination of Major Cumming's remarks, a glowing eulogy was delivered on the life and character of General Wright, by his Honor Judge Gibson. Augusta Constitutionalist.

THE SAD FATE OF MONTE.

A Dog Story with a Beautiful Moral.

What a Glass of Beer Led To.

From the Indianapolis Herald.]

There was no better behaved dog in the entire State of Illinois than Ballard's "Monte." He was young, handsome, intelligent, educated and of good moral habits. He was a high-bred setter, with long, soft hair, dark brown in color, tawny under the throat. His eyes were soft and melting in their expression, his silken ears had the patrician droop, and his aristocratic tail was eloquent in its expression of joy and affection, and rigid as an axe-handle when its owner came to a point. (Monte was a reasonable dog. You could always make him see the point without the aid of the hunting whip.) As for his nose—there never was such a nose hung to a dog before. He could scent a quail across a forty-acre field, and could retrieve anything but his reputation in the latter part of his career. He would carry a dead bird half a mile and put it into the wagon, and be never mouthed or mangled the game. When Bellard was nervous or flustered, and missed a good shot, Monte cheerfully came up to be licked with the ramrod, magnanimously taking all the blame on himself, but when anybody else of the party missed a fair shot, Monte made no attempt to conceal his contemptuous disgust. On these occasions he usually relieved his mind by licking the other dog.

Monte had a bright future before him. But, alas! in an evil hour he tasted his first glass of beer, and from that moment he was a ruined dog. The way of it was this: It was a hot day in August, and Ballard and his friend had been hunting over the hazy stubble for hours. No water was to be had, though a keg of beer was in the wagon. Monte was nearly gone up. His tongue hung out a foot or more and his palpitating sides indicated speedy dissolution. Ballard unable to obtain water, gave him a quart of beer, which he lapped up with satisfaction, and demanded more. He was given a pint more. Considerably refreshed, the hunt was resumed, but Monte behaved strangely. He dashed about in a reckless manner, and finished heading over fences. He barked in a maudlin, incoherent way, and quarrelled with out cause with Smith's dog. He seemed to have lost the control of his nose, and would [illegible] half down the cañon above his head.

On first reaching the falls, which he approached from the American side, he was not disappointed, but yet not very much excited. His mood was not the very best perhaps, but in any case with such sights time is a great element. The mind and eye must grow to the occasion. Afterward he sat perched in the top of the tower on Goat Island for "hours" it's time, and at all hours of the day and night, gazing upon the tremendous fall. He observed that the waters had a rhythmic fall, wave after wave splashing down with a certain periodicity, the effect of which was rather musical than sobby. The great roar of Niagara he described as existing chiefly in the imagination of travelers, owing to the fixtures of the surrounding table land, there is little sounding board for the fall, and its roar is slight compared with that of other falls, such as that at Devil's Bridge in Switzerland. As the water falls rhythmically, so the spray rises in successive gauzy veils, giving a periodicity to the outflashings of the marvelous rainbow. And when with these characteristics the rich and various emerald hues of the fall, threaded with streaks of silver foam are considered, it may be perceived that beauty is not absent, though majesty is its chief attribute."

He found the gorge below the suspension bridge and the whirlpool to be almost as wonderful as the fall, and on the day when he was guided to it by the photographer—but for whom he might have missed it—the surface seemed covered with broken rainbows. Of the vast wave crests at the point, as well as other views, the professor showed a number of admirable photographic views (taken instantaneously with his instrument), and he had besides two paintings and two maps, which give a full view of the whole country from Lake Erie to Ontario.

I have omitted reporting from my notes the purely scientific passages of the Professor's lecture. The view he took was substantially that of Sir Charles Lyell. He had a small cataract made in front of the lecture desk, which I found rather comical with memories of Niagara in my mind, by which he illustrated the wearing away of the soft shale beneath the upper rock, and the consequent breaking down of this strong crust. He tracked the fall cutting its mighty furrow all the way, step by step from the escapement through the table land at Lewiston up to its present position; said that it was probable that many falls such as the American Fall had been found in that progress, only to be drained off by the great central current, and predicted that in 5,000 years the Horseshoe Fall must be above Goat Island, and all between that island and the American shore be dry land.

A very interesting episode of the lecture, to his English hearers, was some experiments with the sand blast, with which he illustrated the phenomena of erosion. Nothing in America of a scientific kind seems to have more interested Professor Tyndall than the Boston sand Blast Works, through which he was led by Josiah Quincy. Afterward he met in Philadelphia Gen. Tiedmann, the inventor of it, who gave him many specimens of the curious effects on glass and other materials produced by the blast. Of course it would not have been Tyndall if he had not already in the institution a small sand blast. In working it last week he got his nose and mouth so full of sand that he was annoyed by it for two days; so, previous to his experiments last night, he filled his nostrils with cotton, and asked the audience to excuse any peculiarity in his voice, and proceeded to cover pieces of glass with varieties of lace and other patterns, greatly to their delight. He then showed how this carving of the world by sand was ever going on, and exhibited some stones which were almost as artistically carved as Indian arrows, but which had been touched only by abrading sand. He said that Professor Huxley was of opinion that the neck of the Sphinx had been carved out by the wind-driven sands of the surrounding desert. With these preliminaries, Dr. Tyndall showed what grand phenomena of erosion had gone on at Niagara, and so ended the scientific part of his lecture.

A TENNESSEE DIDO.

A Fearful Accident and a Miraculous Escape.

Special Correspondence Nashville Banner.]

ATHENS, April 17, 1873.

A frightful accident occurred on the railroad two miles from Athens to-day. Thomas J. Cate, a former citizen and merchant of Athens, was moving his family out to his farm some four miles from town. In one wagon, drawn by two oxen, and driven by a negro boy some fifteen years of age, Mrs. Cate, her child, about fifteen months old, and her sister, Miss Anna Belle Horton, were riding. At this point the wagon road crosses the railroad at a wood-yard, where considerable wood is piled up so as to obscure the railroad track. When the wagon passed the wood pile and got on the track, it was seen that the "pay train," under full steam, and on down grade, was within forty yards of it. The oxen, apparently realizing their danger, but not knowing what to do, turned short to the right and placed the wagon full length along the track. In an instant the pilot struck it between the large wheels, and threw it into the air, throwing Mrs. Cate clear of the wagon, the track and the train, some forty feet into a field, but why mother-like, clung to and carried her child with her, both of whom, thank God, were unharmed and almost without a scratch! Miss Horton was thrown in the same direction and received a pretty severe bruise in the shoulder, but nothing serious. The negro driver was thrown clear of the train, but was badly bruised and cut up about the head. The wagon was literally torn to pieces, the tires were torn from the wheels and doubled up in the most fantastic shapes. The train was not thrown from the track, but took up, and Major Benson and others did what they could for the relief of the wounded. H.

THE NOBLE RED MAN.

Heroism of an Insulted Squaw.

From the Virginia City Mountain.]

The nearest approach to the heroic coloring given to Indian character by the palefaced poets of other days has just been told us by one of the participators in a little squabble with one of the bone-picking Bannacks who haunt this vicinity. One day last week, when George Gohn and George Smith were killing beef at their slaughter house up the gulch, a Bannack Indian, accompanied by three or four squaws, came upon the scene in search of wood and the legitimate plunder of the slaughter-house—the refuse. The lordly child of the forest undignifiedly stretched himself upon the ground, and calmly smiled upon his industrious wives as they gathered the tete pieces. Happening to [illegible] Smith, accidentally or otherwise touched the big Injun's foot with his boot; when big Injun resented the fancied insult by laying hold of a clapboard and swatting George over the back. More pleased than angry, Smith retaliated by squeezing the red man's windpipe, and shoving him one side, supposing this would settle it. Not so, however, for "Lo" had been insulted, and his dignity must be appeased. He accordingly went for Smith, and in a ten minute rough and tumble fight came out victorious best. Now right here is where a sensible white man would have quit, and where the traditional heroism of the red man asserted itself. He had been grossly insulted in the presence of his sunburnt loves, and then ignominiously thrashed. It was too much, and with a voice trembled with shame and a bosom bared to the skies he approached Mr. Gohn with: "Me licked: me big Ingen, and me no want to live. You shootee me, George—you killum me quick—me no want to live." George remonstrated, but in vain. That buck was disposed and wanted to be gathered to his fathers, and insisted on being killed as he stood smiting his brave, brown bosom before the human slayer of kine. Failing to convince him that many a white man got whipped and then had the audacity to want to live, Gohn had to lead him away. On Smith returning to town and cable to the evening the noble Bannack again came and insisted on being, and finally persuaded Smith to accommodate him with a couple of "little axe," stoically eyed the cold steel and the shadow of the blade, ready for the sacrifice, and as it descended with a crash, Mr. Indian sprang one side, and you couldn't have seen his heels for the dust, as he struck out for his "wakiup." If Cooper had been writing this, that Indian would have now been re-hoisted upon that [illegible] of his, and remains for us to endure and the peace commissioners to take care of.

A house that is literally turned [illegible] by hollowing out a trough two inches deep in the upper edge of the manger and hanging it filled with yellow mush. So says the Northeast Farmer.

GEORGIA STATE BAPTIST CONVENTION—LARGE ATTENDANCE—HARMONIOUS ACTION.

ROME, April 24, 1873.

The State Baptist Convention convened here at 10 o'clock to-day. Rev. David Emanuel Butler, of Madison, presided with great dignity.

The attendance is good, and the body presents a fine appearance.

The morning session was devoted to religious services and remarks on the death of Rev. W. L. Mansfield, of Marietta.

Delegates continue to arrive freely. The people of Rome are "doing the honors" of the occasion with more than their usual magnificence.

SOCIETY NEWS—DOUBLE WEDDING IN HIGH LIFE.

COLUMBUS, April 24, 1873.

The grand event of the season in this city came off last night, being a double wedding—Captain J. T. Glenn of Atlanta, and Miss Helen Garrard, and Mr. James W. Harris, of Mississippi, and Miss Gertrude Garrard. The marriage came off at the residence of the brides' mother, Mrs. W. W. Garrard. Rev. J. H. Nall, pastor of the Presbyterian church, was the officiating clergyman. It was an elegant affair. The Atlanta delegation, especially the female portion, attracted marked attention. The bridal party will return to-morrow to Atlanta.

MORE LIGHT!

CHEAP, SAFE AND

BEAUTIFUL LIGHT.

The Family Favorite

Burning Fluid.

Makes the Cheapest Light Ever Produced.

It is positively non-explosive,
Free from Smoke,
Free from Grease,
Free from Stain,
Free from Unpleasant Odor.

Makes a Better Light than Gas

At a Cost of One Cent for Ten Hours.

The Advantages over Coal or Carbon Oils of any kind are:

1. It gives a soft, pure light, which, in intensity rivals all other illuminators now in common use, while its brilliancy any gas light, and gives a steadier flame.

2. It is non-explosive, and entirely free from gases and vapors or other offensive odor, while burning.

3. It is 75 per cent. cheaper than coal oil, and may be turned in any ordinary lamp, thus adapting itself to economical use. In short, the possibilities of the light produced by this beautiful cheap fluid, has won the admiration of every person who has witnessed it.

Railroad men will find this the cheapest, best and safest for head and car lights now in use.

Parties desiring a permanent and profitable business exiant, will do well to call and see this fluid before locating elsewhere, as they have been treated by many of the best Chemists in the United States, and also by the celebrated Professor Anthell, at the Laboratory of the Agricultural Department at Washington, by direction of Gen. Capron.

This fluid boils at a temperature of 175 degrees Fahrenheit, and the vapor endures a temperature of 300 degrees before it is converted into gas.

PROMPT CASH SETTLEMENT OF THE LIVERPOOL AND LONDON AND GLOBE.—Atlanta, April 24, 1873.—In consideration of eighteen hundred and fifty-three dollars and eighty-four cents, to me paid in cash by Messrs. Walker & Boyd, agents of the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company, for loss by fire on the 21 April, 1873, I acknowledge all my claims fully and satisfactorily adjusted.

JAMES L. WATKINS.

IT is rumored in Atlanta that Col. B. Y. Sage, Ch of Engineer and Superintendent of the Atlanta and Richmond Air-Line Railway will be asked to accept the Presidency of the Georgia Western Railroad, in case Maj. Campbell Wallace does not withdraw his resignation. Should Col. Sage be placed at the head of this enterprise, the people of Atlanta may rest assured that the road will be built. The Air-Line Railway will ever remain a monument to his untiring energy and perseverence. He knows no such word as fail.—Gainesville Eagle.

THE wind yesterday was too bad throwing the dust into the eyes of every one—damaging the goods of the merchants, not even having a proper respect for ladies. Even on Whitehall street the wind was strong enough to interfere with lady's dress. As the poet says, it ought to have been ashame l of itself,

"For not sparing that rising bustle!
It should not have touched a single 'pape.'
That woman had the hardest kind of tussel
To get herself in shape."

I. O. O. F.—The order of procession on Saturday, 26th inst, will be as follows:

ONE OF DR. JONES' CURES.—Certificates are strong. They furnish furnish practical evidence. The following will show. Dr. Jones (at the National Hotel) cures the afflicted. Read the testimony of a respectable planter.

"I came to Dr. Jones, at the National Hotel, yesterday with partial deafness, caused by polypus of twelve years standing. It, at times, gave me great pain. I had tried a number of family doctors, who, after tinkering with me for months, pronounced it incurable. In a few minutes Dr. Jones removed the polypus and restored my hearing. I consider him a skillful and trusty physician, and advise the afflicted to spend no time nor money with anyone else. He also straightened the eyes of one of my neighbors, and cured another of bunchetis and rheumatism.

I live at Warren, Brooks county, Ga.

JAMES W. WALDEN.

OFF TO ATLANTA.—Mr. James P. Harrison, former proprietor of the Advertiser, left with his family for Atlanta on Thursday. We part with Mr. Harrison with many regrets; for there is much about him to admire. We commend him to the citizens of Atlanta, with the assurance that they will find in him a genial and warm hearted friend, an upright, intelligent and public spirited citizen.—Monroe Advertiser

Mr. Harrison has secured a residence in the city on Washington street, and has removed to it with his family. We welcome him to Atlanta and believe that we have gained an excellent citizen, and one who will enter heartily into that spirit of enterprise which has made the Gate City famous. Mr. Harrison was the former proprietor of the Monroe Advertiser, the equal of any weekly in the State.

GEORGIA WESTERN ROAD.—Editors Constitution: I see an article in your issue of the 24th over the signature of "Citizen," making a reply to Major Wallace, who were the Railroad Commissioners that had preferred charges. I will answer as to one of the roads. The Georgia Railroad is the road that signed two hundred and fifty thousand dollars to the Georgia Western Road on condition that the city of Atlanta would subscribe the like amount. This city, in good faith, did so, and they we made a donation, and made a survey, made and paid for it, then the city called for subscription to three hundred thousand dollars on the G. R. R. Co. then pulled out and wanted to know if they would withdraw their subscription. Gentlemen, please notes at hand are not paid of this way. Make the Ga. R. R. come up to its subscription, and the city will not have to be behind her people with inducement to build it, and then the Ga. road reap the benefits. Give Maj. Wallace the credit he has due him. We don't want so much from the city; we hope our city fathers

Georgia, Atlanta, again, of necessity, become the Gate City."

"Our friends of the Georgia and the Central Railroads may grin and trade to pass over their roads to the eastward, but it is an imperious necessity to have a direct line to New York: This the Air-Line gives us; and this renders the necessity of building the Georgia Western imperative, as it is an important link in our connection with the Southern Pacific.

"My business is with railroads. I have examined the subject, and am thoroughly satisfied of the necessity for building the Georgia Western. It is a necessity we cannot evade.

"This will be an Air Line from Memphis, Texas, to New York, and a good, that dollar earning line. If we are true to ourselves, Atlanta will be placed in a condition that she need not fear her foes.

"The Georgia Western is in no sense a rival of the State Road. No man can show where it will injure it one dollar. As a manager of the State Road, I have no interest whether the Georgia Western Road be built or not; but as a citizen of Atlanta, and a real estate owner, it is to my interest that it should be built.

* * * * * * *

"The leaders of the State Road have no interest in preventing the building of this line, but many of the stockholders have interest in Atlanta—such as Richard Peters, John P. King, John T. Grant, and myself. It gives to Atlanta an important and commanding position.

* * * * * * *

"There are other roads projected that will give the State Road, as well as Atlanta, an advantage. * * But we get no benefit from them unless the Georgia Western is built. Being the shortest route from the Mississippi, it will be a cotton route."

* * * * * * *

"Railroads are a necessity of the age; not only a necessity, but the most profitable investment that can be made. Though many of the roads may not pay, the country is benefitted by the development of her resources. For this purpose, any man owning real estate in Atlanta can afford to be taxed. Without the road, his property will depreciate. We must build so as to control the road. Columbus and Macon have suffered because they had no controlling influence in railroads."

I offer no argument of my own at present, but if my judgment as to the authorship of "Citizen" is correct, I ask the public to consider what he now says in opposition to the Georgia Western in the light of the blazing torch of truth which he held up less than two years ago. ANOTHER CITIZEN.

ATLANTA, GA., April 23, 1873.—At a meeting of the Bar of the City of Atlanta, held this day at the City Hall, Col. L. E. Bleckley was called to the chair, and Sidney Dell, Esq., elected secretary.

The object of the meeting, as explained by the chairman, was to take into consideration the fact of the removal from our city of Robert H. Cowart, Esq., who has gone to Texas to cast his lot with its citizens in the prosecution of his profession.

On motion the chair appointed Judge John Collier, Attorney-General N. J. Hammond, Col. Samuel Weil, Col. Robert Baugh, City Attorney W. T. Newman, Hon E. P. Hoge and Hon. W. L. Calhoun, a committee to draft suitable resolutions.

The committee reported the following preambls and resolutions:

Whereas, Our professional brother, Robert E. Cowart, has removed to the State of Texas to pursue a profession for which his talents eminently qualify him. And whereas, his gentlemanly deportm nt and social qualities greatly endeared him to the members of his profession, with whom he met in the discharge of his professional duties.

Therefore, Resolved, That while we shall miss the pleasantries of his wit and social intercourse, we take pleasure in testifying to his integrity of character and professional ability, and cordially recommend him to our professional brethren and to the citizens of Texas, in wh se midst he may make his future home.

A Pleasant Occasion.

The young ladies of West End, together with two or three of our Atlanta beauties, and of course the usual number of attendant cavaliers, picnic'd at the Paper Mills yesterday. They went out in wagons, which was certainly an unique and appropriate mode. They went fishing, but strange to say, caught more on land than they did in the water. Anyhow they had as much fun as could be conveniently crowded into one morning, and have inaugurated our picnic season by one of the pleasantest pic-nics on record. They returned to their homes late yesterday afternoon better filled with fun than they were with fish, and will remember their frolic many a day.

PAINFUL NEWS.—We are deeply pained to learn of the severe, indeed dangerous indisposition of Dr. Willis J. Westmoreland. This gentleman accidently cut his finger slightly some three weeks ago while engaged in a dissection. The poisonous matter appears to have penetrated his entire system, and is the cause of his present serious illness. The glands in some portions of his body are frightfully swollen, and he suffers intense neuralgic pains. Yesterday afternoon his condition was so very critical as to occasion much alarm to his many friends. We earnestly hope that his disorder may be only temporary, for our community can ill afford to lose so distinguished a gentleman and eminent physician

SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA, April 24, Frank S. Loftin was admitted to the bar upon taking the usual oath

ATLANTA CIRCUIT.

No. 10. Argument concluded.

No. 22. Mathe C. Phipps vs. James H. Morrow, et al. Equity, from Clayton. Argued. A. W. Hammond & Son, W. Waterson, for plaintiff in error. Doyal & Co., contra.

No. 24. Lemuel Kendrick vs. I. B. O'Neil, Foster & Co. Complaint, from Fulton. Argued. Hillyer & Ben, for plaintiff in error. Thrasher & Thrasher, contra.

No. 28. W. R. Phillips vs. D. A. Walker. Injunction, from Fulton. Collier, Myratt & Collier, for plaintiff in error. A. W. Hammond & Son, contra.

Passing the opening argument of P. M. Myratt, Esq., the Court adjourned until 10 o'clock A. M. to-morrow.

Fulton Superior Court.

During yesterday's session of this body the Hon. John Collier presided.

The trial of the case of James H. Seavey, Ebenezer H. Seavey, Lavinia F. Seavey, Eliza Ann Garrison and Andrew J. Garrison vs. Michael Fitzgerald and wife Michael Fitzgerald, administrator of Nathaniel Goodhue, deceased, bill for relief, etc., was resumed and continued throughout the morning session. The evidence was closed yesterday, and at half past four o'clock yesterday afternoon two arguments had been made, the opening speech of Judge Richard H. Clark for the defence. Two more arguments will be made in this case—one on each side. The subject involved is large, and attorneys on both sides are doing their level best. A decree will be probably reached to-day.

The Patent Status Commissioner's Office.

"Yesterday afternoon our commissioner was busy. At two there, we noticed the arrival of Mr. James DeWitt Hansard, of Forsyth county, upon his return from Washington, where he had succeeded in giving Gen. Toombs' case a hard pulling against him, and enlisted in his case as a hard one.

Facts which were developed yesterday at his preliminary trial before Commissioner Smith and Conly, have more than justified that remark. It appears that this infamous Ku-Klux Act possesses qualities very similar to india rubber, and can be stretched to fit any case to which it may become desirable to apply it.

If the United States Powers want to keep a man in jail, no matter whether he has once been indicted for the same offence or not, all that they have got to do is change its name and call him a Ku-Klux. We do not mean by the above any disrespect to Commissioners Smith and Conly, for we believe them both to be gentlemen of judicial integrity, and their action yesterday afternoon in discharging Hansard proves this opinion to be well founded. We are only discussing this partisan Ku-Klux act, and by way of showing clearly to our readers one way at least in which manifest oppression and injustice may be worked under cover of it, we give more fully the facts in Mr. Hansard's case.

During the recent session of the Federal Grand Jury, and while Judge Wood and Judge Erskine were presiding in the Circuit Court, a true bill was found against James DeWitt Hansard, of the important part of which the following is a literal copy:

Commencing in usual form, the bill recited "that on the 15th day of January, 1873, one Harrison Barker and James DeWitt Hansard did knowingly and wilfully beat and wound one Charles B. Blacker, he the said Charles B. Blacker, being then and there a deputy of one William H Smyth, the United States Marshal for the districts of Georgia, and as such deputy, he the said Charles B. Blacker, being then and there an officer of the United States, duly authorized to serve and execute warrants, in serving two certain warrants, issued on the 13th day of January, A. D., 1873, by one John L. Conley, Esq., a United States Commissioner for the Northern District of Georgia, one of said warrants being for the apprehension of said Harrison Barker for violations of the Act of the Congress of the United States, entitled "an Act imposing taxes on distilled spirits and Tobacco, and for other purposes," approved the 20th day of July, A. D., 1868, and the other of said warrants being for the apprehension of the said James DeWitt Hansard, for violations of said act of the said Congress, approved the 20th day of July, 1868.

(Signed) HENRY P. FARROW,
U. S. Attorney,
By GEO. S. THOMAS,
Ass. U S Attorney.

Upon this presentment a bench-warrant was duly issued, and Hansard was arrested and put in jail. There was also another true bill found against him for illicit distilling.

He remained in jail under these two warrants until a few days ago, when he succeeded in giving the required bonds. He had hardly signed the bonds before he was re-arrested upon the following warrant, which we also give literally:

Commencing in the ordinary form, the warrant sets forth, "that Harrison Barker and James de WittHansard did, in the Northern District of Georgia, on the 25th day of January, 1873, band and conspire together to injure the person of C. B. Blacker, a deputy United States Marshal, while engaged in the lawful discharge of the duties of his office."

(Signed) GEO. B. CHAMBERLAIN.

Taken out April 19th, 1873

Thus our readers will see that by a little ingenious application of the Ku-Klux act a man can be tried twice for the same offense.

Hansard had his preliminary trial upon the Ku-Klux warrant yesterday afternoon before Smith and Conly. He was ably represented by Colonel S. B. Spencer, who labored earnestly in his behalf, and to whose efforts he owes his discharge. Colonel Spencer at once raised the point of a pending case for the same alleged crime, and moved to dismiss the warrant. The motion was at first overruled, but the court subsequently re-considered its ruling and discharged the prisoner. We have given the case thus fully, that our reader may reflect upon the wonderful nability and adaptability of the Ku-Klux act.

The Justice's Courts.

John Strickland, white, and Cicero Wyat, colored were brought before Justice Hutt yesterday afternoon, upon a warrant charging them with the serious offence of burglarly in the night time. The warrant was taken out by Mr. Smith. He charges that the burglary was committed at his store on Decatur street, some time in February last. The burglars, whoever they were, stole a lot of groceries, such as sugar, meat, tobacco, snuff, coffee, etc. The darkey immediately stepped off to Augusta, where he remained until a few days since. In the meantime Strickland was carried before Judge Munday, tried for burglary and discharged by that officer. Upon the return here of the negro he was arrested, and Strickland re-arrested. It remains to be seen whether this second warrant will stick. The case was still on trial late yesterday afternoon.

Colonel Hulsey represents the defense.

John Lawless was brought up before Justice Hammond yesterday for abandonment of his wife and child. The prosecution was instigated by a Mr. Johnson, but, for reasons satisfactory to himself, he withdrew the warrant and the defendant was discharged.

Justice Munday yesterday heard a case of larceny from the house. The defendant, Willis Prigen, was charged by Mr. F. A. Thornton with having, on the 24th day of April, 1873, entered the house of one Hamilton, and stolen therefrom a silver cased watch and gold chain, of the value of $40, and the property of Daniel Brogen. It appeared that the watch and chain had been left by Brogen in charge of Thornton at the time it was stolen. The evidence against Prigen was purely circumstantial, and, in his defense, he established an excellent character for industry and honesty.

The warrant was dismissed by the Court after a hearing.

Station House Report.

There were eleven city arrests last night, mostly under the head of "D. and D."

There were six arrests for State offences. Moses Harden (col.) larceny; Georgiana Carter, (col.) larceny after trust; Mary Harden, (col.) for an assault and battery committed on another colored female, and two white cases are reported in Justice's Court proceedings.

Policeman Tom Jones arrested Asbury Paine, (white) on the charge of burglary in the night time of the store of Henry West & Son, at Decatur, Wednesday night. A window was broken open, and about $150 worth of goods stolen. On the counter was found a new green cotton handkerchief with large red flowers, (identified by the accused) two old cravats, (identified by Ed. Cox as Paine's); and a box of paper collars. Paine went down to Decatur Wednesday night on the passenger train and was seen in town after the store was closed. He got to the residence of his brother-in-law, Parkers, about mid night and left for Atlanta Thursday morning.—Paine will be taken to Decatur to day for a preliminary hearing.

THE JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL PICNIC. Yesterday afternoon one of the merriest parties visited Atlanta seen here in many a day. It consisted of married ladies, young ladies, litterateurs, professors, students and a smattering of the inevitable small boys, comprising some sixty-five or seventy persons in all. The crowd came from Jefferson High School, at Stallsville, Jefferson county, Ga., and were under the charge of the Rev. O. C. Pope, the principal of the school. This gentleman concluded to give his young people a picnic that would be a picnic. The excursionists left Stallsville early Wednesday morning, travelled eighteen miles to Barnetts, on the Georgia Railroad, where a special car awaited them, in which they came up to Stone Mountain, reaching the Mountain yesterday morning a little before sunrise. After climbing the mountain and seeing all that was to be seen in that neighborhood, the children re-entered their car and came up to Atlanta, arriving here yesterday afternoon. They saw the elephant—that is the Kimball House, also the Capitol, and other places of interest. They all expressed themselves perfectly delighted with their trip, and behaved themselves while here in a manner that reflected the highest credit upon their teachers. Among the belles of Stallsville, who honored the occasion with their presence we may mention Miss Jennie Roberts, Miss Evie Roberts and Miss Lillie Jenkins, all of whom are as pretty specimens of young babyhood as it has fallen our admiring eyes for "Lo these many days." The happy party left last night, and will reach home for supper to-night. Mr. Pope reports his school as flourishing, which we were glad to hear, especially as it is bringing up some such pretty girls.

Letters on Prevalent Diseases that Affect the American Nation.

SYMPTOMS OF CHRONIC CATARRH

BY DR. J. A. JONES.

THE success of DR. JONES' new method of curing diseases of the Lungs and Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, Tracheitis, Laryngitis, Consumption, Enlarged Tonsils, Pleurisie, breaking up Congestion of the Lungs and Liver, and effective cures of the Respiratory Organs with certainty and ease, that cannot be reached by any other method.

His remedies are reduced to warm spray—any specific in their nature; they reach the whole diseased surface at every breath; they are carried directly into the blood, without having to go through the process of digestion; only certain prepared remedies can be used by the system.

A few so-called family doctors are experimenting with the Inhaler and their Caustics, Iodines, and other relics of barbarism peculiar to that practice—the result is, they are destroying the reputation of the only system that will cure Throat Diseases. Only certain mild remedies can be taken into the lungs, and they are not kept by druggists nor known to the general profession.

1st. Of the head—heavy, dull, aching over the eyes, sometimes extending back through the crown of the head, and causing a weight or heat, of coldness on top of the head, snapping and cracking noise in the ears, dullness of hearing—often the secretion collects in middle ear, closing up the eustachian tubes, producing deafness—the lining membrane being the same from the head through the whole alimentary canal, and down into the lungs, it is natural to extend itself to affect the whole system. It becomes virulent in the nose sometimes, causing a tenderness, or producing offensive breath, discharges of yellowish matter and scabs the shape of the nostrils, or if the partition bone is only affected, then the discharges are fluid, and when they discharge, which is generally after exercising, the nose is open, the patient breathes more easily and the head feels more clear—the heaviness over the eyes and across the forehead is seldom entirely gone, but it is aggravated by every fresh cold. The offensive smell for which the unfortunate chews many kinds of drugs to neutralize or destroy, and thereby be enabled to go into society without being a positive nuisance, when persons of both sexes are, on account of this loathsome and offensive disease, called CATARRH, which has now assumed a Tertiary form of Cancer, dries rapidly everything but the outside skin, letting the nose sink in, destroying the throat, voice, etc., and when the disease is called Laryngitis, Tracheitis, Bronchitis, etc.

SYMPTOMS OF THE THROAT.

A collection of tenacious slimy secretion falling down into the throat and thrown out—clicking, rasping, hoarseness and scraping to keep open the wind pipe; difficult, breathing, oppression, and soreness under the breast bone; tenderness in the left side; rheumatic pains between the shoulders; stiff neck on taking cold; palpitation of the heart; torpid liver; sometimes yellow complexion; general dull and heavy feeling; extreme shortness of breath; soreness of stomach pit; bloated sensation; belching of wind; yawning, gaping keeping mouth open to breathe; distress, sleepless nights; worse when lying down, and it now terminates either in Consumption of the Lungs, or to those the nauseous membrane through the whole alimentary and urinal canal, causing Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Piles, Inflammation of the Bladder, trouble in the Urinary Organs, and in women, nearly the whole train of female diseases,) and general Consumption, emaciation, complete prostration, all of which, and many other symptoms, called by twenty different names, the sufferer may exist for a while. Dr. Jones cures this dangerous and insidious disease by the Moist System—using specific medicines known only to himself, applied to the disease surface, in the form of spray. He relieves the sufferer in a few minutes and supplies the patient with all that is required to finish the cure at home.

OZOENA.

An Offensive Disease to the Nose.

Which eats away the partition bone, destroys the sense of smell, produces green or yellowish scabs, the shape of the nostril—sometimes flat, often tainted with blood and matter; causing weight and dull aching over the eyes, headache, loss of memory, giddiness, etc. This disease is often caused by neglected colds, by suppressed exta diseases, Scrofula, Scarlet Fever, its exude, Syphilis, and other noxious diseases, and is itself contagious. It often extends to the throat, producing Hoarseness, Bronchitis, and CONSUMPTION. It is a Tertiary form of Cancer, DESTROYING the NOSE and THROAT when too long neglected. DR. JONES is the ONLY Physician in the United States who thoroughly understands curing this dangerous and offensive disease. He destroys the offensive smell in FIVE MINUTES, and relieves the sufferer in every way AT ONCE, and CURES the disease in a short time. For this disease Dr. Jones has special instruments with which to apply his specific remedies to the spot. Nose Douches and catarrh remedies generally drive this disease to the lungs more quickly.

Letter No. 3.

By DR. J. A. JONES, of London.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.

Prevalent in America and Europe.

1. ON THE HEAD.—Tingling, itching, with a sense of dryness and closing of the nose; sneezing, running of a watery secretion; as it progresses the secretion becomes mucous, entire obstruction of one or both nostrils, hawking, spitting of thick mucus, coughing, etc. 2. Catarrh of the Throat, prevails as an epidemic sometimes, and is called Influenza, with or without fever, and affects all the organs of the head and throat; there is oppression across the breast, rawness and burning of the throat, fever, afterward a copious secretion of mucous, which may become opaque or purulent, difficulty of breathing, pain in the head, and dull feelings, a sense of soreness extending under the breast bone to the stomach pit; the fits of coughing may occasion vomiting, oppression, prostration; as the disease progresses, the nose becomes sore and ulcerated. This disease is called the Grippe by some. Catarrhal Inflammation of the eyes arises from acids, caustic substances, etc. of the atmosphere, watery eyes, fistula, lachrymalis, diseases of vision, etc.

SUPPRESSED CATARRH may produce inflammation of the lungs, brain or eyes, or give rise to rheumatism, nervous disorders, wasting, neuralgia, tremors and convulsions, drowsiness, chilliness, fainting, faintness, palpitation of the heart, etc. When the frontal sinuses above the eyes, posterior and anterior nasal passages become clogged up, and every deep breathing causes a paroxysm of sneezing, coughing, etc., or partly, if there continues a presence of the secretion supply these parts, and pains like the most excruciating neuralgia in the head. The disease follows the mucous membranes through the respiratory tubes to all portions of the same membrane of the body, by carrying off the vital fluids, interferes with the healthy action of the glands of Wharton, which secrete the wax; 4. dryness follows, hardness of hearing, roaring, hearing, singing, whistling, cracking, the report of bells, and sounding noises, which vary, and which are simple effects, and when the cause is removed, the effects cease; this sentence of hearing increases with each cold.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN
is unequaled by any known remedy. It will eradicate, effectually and speedily every trace of scrofulous humors in the Blood and will effectually dispel all predisposition to bilious derangement.
Is there want of action in your Liver and Spleen? Is Dyspepsia Stomach? Unless digestion is promptly aided the system is debilitated with loss of vital force, poverty of the blood, general tendency, general weakness and inertia.
Have you a weakness of the Intestines? You are in danger of Chronic Diarrhœa or the dreadful inflammation of the Bowels.
Have you a weakness of the Uterine or Urinary Organs? You are exposed to suffering in its most aggravated form.
Are you dejected, drowsy, dull, sluggish or depressed in spirits, with head ache, back ache, coated tongue and bad tasting mouth?
For a certain remedy for all of these diseases, weaknesses and troubles, for searching and purifying the vitiated blood and imparting vigor to all the vital forces; for building up and restoring the weakened constitution USE which is pronounced by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris "the most powerful tonic and alterative known to the medical world." This is no new and untried discovery but has been long used by the leading physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.
Don't weaken or impair the digestive organs by stimulating and poisonous drugs or give up in despair—Jurubeba, Yellowdock and Dandelion with pills and kindred diseases are sure to follow their use.
Keep the blood pure and health is secured.

ATLANTA CONSTITUTION
FOR 1873.
A DEMOCRATIC NEWSPAPER,
DAILY AND WEEKLY.
THE FAVORITE OF ALL CLASSES.
Lawyers, Merchants, Farmers, Etc.
TWELVE REASONS FOR SUBSCRIBING
1. THE CONSTITUTION is published at the Capital of the State, and contains proceedings of the Legislature in full, together with all necessary information of the actings of all the Departments of the State Government.
2. THE CONSTITUTION has the sole and exclusive right of the DECISIONS OF THE SUPREME COURT from the Reporter of the Court. These decisions are of the highest importance to Lawyers and the business public generally, and are published in THE CONSTITUTION. Hence every lawyer, merchant and business man should take the paper, and the great profession of the Commonwealth
3. THE CONSTITUTION is the Official Journal of the State, of the city of Atlanta and a large number of counties.
4. THE CONSTITUTION publishes a weekly Cotton Report, embracing remarks on the Cotton Markets of the World, and is therefore of great value to Cotton dealers in cotton-growing states in Georgia, but all over the country, procure THE CONSTITUTION for these articles.
5. THE CONSTITUTION furnishes a full Telegraphic Dispatch, embracing the latest news of importance from the State, the South and foreign. Hence the paper is popular with merchants everywhere.
6. THE CONSTITUTION publishes Special Dispatches from Washington, Columbus, Montgomery, New Orleans, Nashville, Louisville, Cincinnati, Chattanooga, Charleston, Savannah, Augusta, Macon, and other points of interest, and has correspondents in Europe, and in other parts of the United States.
7. THE CONSTITUTION has a Special Correspondent in Washington City, who writes for it over the signature of "Carleton," and whose letters are copied by the press throughout the country.
8. THE CONSTITUTION has a Special Correspondent in Europe, who writes for it over the signature of "Bohemian," and whose letters are copied by the press throughout the country.
9. THE CONSTITUTION has a Special Correspondent in Georgia, who writes for it over the signature of "Sparta," and whose letters are copied by the press throughout the country.
10. THE CONSTITUTION has a Special Correspondent in Washington City, who writes for it over the signature of "Sparta," and whose letters are copied by the press throughout the country.
11. THE CONSTITUTION has a Special Correspondent in Washington City, who writes for it over the signature of "Sparta," and whose letters are copied by the press throughout the country.
12. THE CONSTITUTION has a Special Correspondent in Washington City, who writes for it over the signature of "Sparta," and whose letters are copied by the press throughout the country.
Every Georgian should, after taking his own local paper, take THE CONSTITUTION, published at the Capital of his State; and we would again refer our friends to the fact that a paper that has existed for over twenty years in the city where it is published, that has attained a large circulation, that has been conducted with ability, that has secured a reputation for fairness, that has been the exponent of the principles of the Democratic party, that has been the organ of Georgia, and has secured a reputation for truthfulness and reliability, that has a circulation in every county of Georgia, and in every State in the Union, and has a corps of correspondents in every part of the country, and has a large number of paying patrons, and is in every way prosperous and successful, is entitled to the support of the people, and we cordially invited to visit and examine THE CONSTITUTION building, and its large and complete publishing facilities, and inspect its paper.

OUR ILLINOIS LETTER.

Illinois and Georgia Compared—Georgia Needs Free Schools to Attract Immigrants—Our Great Canal Appreciated in the West.

YATES CITY, ILL., April 21st, 1873.

Editors Constitution: Please find enclosed $1.00 to pay for the continuance of your valuable paper. THE CONSTITUTION is certainly a number one paper. I notice in most every edition, "the advantages" and "inducements" to men with means in Georgia. We will admit you have many advantages over Illinois, but Illinois has one thing that she is proud of, viz: A system of free schools. A Northern man with a family of children does not wish to go into a State for the purpose of "settling down" where "free schools" are attacked at every session of the State Legislature. We know that some of the members of Georgia's State Legislature are zealous advocates and friends to the cause of "free schools" but the majority believe that "ignorance is bliss." Whenever the State of Georgia fosters free schools and places it within reach of all children, rich or poor, a chance to get a good common school education, then she will find plenty of emigrants seeking a home in Georgia, and desirous of tilling her rich soil.

I hope that the Atlantic and Western Canal will be a success. All the Western States would be richly rewarded by it. The North and South would be better united, and both sections would have a more kindred cause. The past troubles would be forgotten, and we believe the "Yankee" would be respected in the South (if he behaved himself.) Every farmer in Illinois can see and understand that the scheme is a good one—just what he wants. I have talked with quite a number of the "Grange," and told them the direction of the canal, probable expense, etc., in every case I found favorable answers.

We sell corn at 30 cents per bushel at present. We can ship corn to the Illinois or Mississippi river for about 6 cents a bushel. From either of these rivers it could be transported to the Atlantic without re-loading. Will it cost 50 cents per bushel to ship corn from here to Atlanta, or any other place in Georgia? It certainly does now, and more; but would it if the Atlantic and Western Canal was constructed? Illinois, Iowa, and, in fact, the whole United States have nearly as much of an interest in this national enterprise as the State of Georgia.

Let us all recall Bastiat's great truth: The good of each tends to the good of all, as the good of all tends to the good of each.

Truly, A. C. BLOOMER.

IN LUCK.

A $150,000,000 Fortune—A Terrified Jacksonian Gets Clear Heirs.

From the Jackson Whig and Tribune.]

A young friend of this city received a letter a few days ago, informing him that he was one of the heirs to an English estate of one hundred and fifty millions. Steps have been taken to secure it and the fortunate Jacksonian is already enjoying an elysium of anticipations. Ever since he received the news he has been taking his evening promenades among the stars, and spending late hours in the aristocratic society of the moon. When he condescends to dwell on earth, it is in a palace of gold and precious stones, surrounded by superbness within—worthy in splendor and richness of being the abode of Peri—whose companionship he enjoys. The curtains of this magnificent palace were manufactured in the moon, the walls hung with variegated laces and silks from the same mills; carpeted with velvet, fashioned by the stars of the milky way; and beds of down direct from Venus. The walls and ceilings are frescoed with pearls and coral, while the beds of down and silk and velvet are canopied with diamonds, gemmed in ruby and garnet. The grounds are dotted with fountains made of fallen meteors, and which play alternately streams of gold and silver, into basins formed of congealed moonbeams. Evergreens direct from old Eden. Hanging gardens and birds that sang for Adam and Eve, wave and lower and sing around the golden palace. But the dazzled youth will have to return to earth after awhile, and being single will want a Peri of flesh and blood to share his splendid fortune. Therefore we will describe him for the benefit of our fair friends.

He is hardly twenty-four years of age—feminine in stature and form, but of exquisite mould. Blonde hair and eyes; complexion clear as a spring morning, and with a May rose bud blushing in each cheek. He sports a "love of a moustache" after the delicate shade of the pure Arabian scrol. His a mouth formed for cooing and kissing, and in short a handsome self made female, that say Venus might well afford to love. We, and we alone are authorized to disclose his name to half dozen of our quietest girls (even, which we will do soon as occasion) the day of the world his name will remain a secret until he puts the fortunate one in possession of his new service.

He is a confirmed old bachelor Weeks, in winding up his accounts of the Welch circus, estimates its cost at two minutes of nancy, the loss to the speculators alone having been at least three-quarters of a million, even after allowing $20,000 abstracted by the children Tinies, and for $2,000 collected for the relief of the sufferers.
